A very pleasant surprise party was held at the residence of Miss Violet Thompson on Lexington avenue, on last Wednesday evening. Among those present were Misses Emma Schone, Cora Ryan, Leulie Ryan, Ids Robinson, Anna Renshapt and the Misses Broms, and Messrs. Black, Rogers, Elvin, Darringer, Ryan, Long, Thompson and a number of others. All had a jolly time. Euchre and charades and refreshments being the amusement for the evening.

Mr. Alex. Schilling, artist, of Chicago, has sent Miss Ketcham one of his most charming summer landscapes. There are sunny clouds in a dark grey sky, which recedes till the horizon seems immeasurably for away. In the foreground the aluggish water reflects the clump of maple trees back on the hillside. The distant field of grain g ows golden in the sunlight. As a colorist Mr. techtiling is almost beyond criticism, and his man-per has just the right proportion o' realism and impression. This picture is on exhibition with paintings by Mr. Vanderpool and other artists at Miss Ketcham's Art School.

The social hop and entertainment given by the Knights and Ladies of the U. B. proved quite a success. The recitation of Miss Anna Lutz proved a charming feature of the evening, while the singing by the quartet was highly appreciated by the audience.
